

Highlights:

- We configure a supply chain with guaranteed service time and emission constraints.
- The problem is decomposed into two subproblems based on its structural properties.
- The subproblem of determining the service time is solved optimally.
- A hybrid algorithm is developed to solve the problem efficiently and effectively.